
2010's most buzzed about horror film, THE HUMAN CENTIPEDE is about to be unleashed to Stateside audiences thanks to IFC Films, and below you can get a peek at what to expect from Tom Six's deranged film with two clips! Read on to check them out!

During a stopover in Germany in the middle of a carefree road trip through Europe, two American girls find themselves alone at night when their car breaks down in the woods. Searching for help at a nearby villa, they are wooed into the clutches of a deranged retired surgeon who explains his mad scientific vision to his captives' utter horror. They are to be the subjects of his sick lifetime fantasy: to be the first to connect people, one to the next, via their gastric system, and in doing so bring to life "the human centipede."

Dieter Laser, who essays the mad Dr. Heiter has been garnering much praise for his performance as the mad surgeon and here's two reasons why:

In the first clip, Lindsay (Ashley C. Williams) and Jenny (Ashlynn Yennie) are given a warm dry haven from the rain, too bad the water is even worse inside.

{flv}humancentipede01{/flv}

The second clip is a lesson to you all, when Dr. Heiter loses his temper, he has no problem threatening you with a good deal of oral violence!

{flv}humancentipede02{/flv}

THE HUMAN CENTIPEDE hits VOD and limited release April 30. Keep your eyes locked on Fango for an exclusive interview with the man behind all this madness, writer/director Tom Six.

{jcomments on}