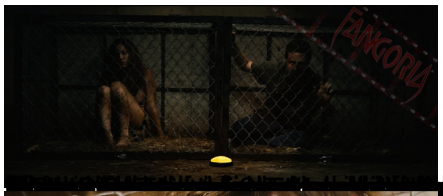
Fango has obtained the tour schedule and a few new exclusive pics from the upcoming semi-anthology chiller THE PERFECT HOUSE, which reunites SLEEPAWAY CAMP stars Felissa Rose and actor/musician Jonathan Tiersten. Co-directed by Kris Hulbert and Randy Kent, the extreme movie (see previous item and trailer here) tells three tales of terror set within the walls of the same suburban home: “The Storm,” “Chic-ken” and “Dinner Guest.”

“We are launching a screening and Q&A schedule this spring called the Return to THE PERFECT HOUSE Tour to promote a planned VOD (iTunes/Amazon.com) release of the film October 1, 2011,” Hulbert tells Fango. “Our goal is to prove to the world it’s possible to see the same returns from an initial VOD release as you could with a limited theatrical run.”

Sponsored by Gem Design Jewelers, the PERFECT HOUSE roadshow begins on April 13 in LA and ends April 25 in Philadelphia, with more showings to be announced (see screening list below). “From there we plan to add dates based on results from ‘Demand It Now,’ ” says Hulbert. “Plus, the goal of the Return to THE PERFECT HOUSE Tour is to take advantage of every technological convenience possible while making every aspect of our tour as interactive and ‘user friendly’ to follow as possible. All of our websites will be updated and commented on daily by our cast and crew—not some generic web designer—giving fans direct interaction with us at every turn. We will even take ideas and suggestions directly from our fans to increase the interactive features of the tour.”


A few examples of how this movie tour will be user friendly are the integration of self-printing tickets that can be scanned at the door using a cell phone app, using QR barcodes on T-shirts and publications to make adding THE PERFECT HOUSE on Facebook as simple, fun and easy for followers as possible.