INSIDIOUS, one of the scariest and best times we've had at the cinema in a while hits, theaters this Friday, but you can see it tomorrow night in a special sneak preview engagement planned to hit 25 cities across the country!

Directed by James Wan from a script by Wan and Leigh Whannell, INSIDIOUS sees Rose Byrne and Patrick Wilson as parents confronted with horrific happenings surrounding their son's descent into a coma. The film is plenty spooky and 100 percent worth your time.

Fango's been showing INSIDIOUS plenty of love with our early review from last year's premiere, video interviews with Wan and Whannell (track back here http://www.fangoria.com/index.php?option=com_content&view=article&id=3957:exclusive-video-interviews-james-wan-on-insidious-part-two&catid=83:featured-videos&Itemid=215) and our exclusive cover story in FANGORIA #302.

Here's the list of cities and their respective Facebook events detailing times, theaters and ticketing info!
