Check out the new poster for Ti West's (THE ROOST, THE HOUSE OF THE DEVIL) richly funny, and wholly creepy new film THE INNKEEPERS below, as well as how to see it tomorrow in NYC.

Premiering at EW , the latest mood-appropriate art for the film is right in line with the excellent designs we've seen so far (below).

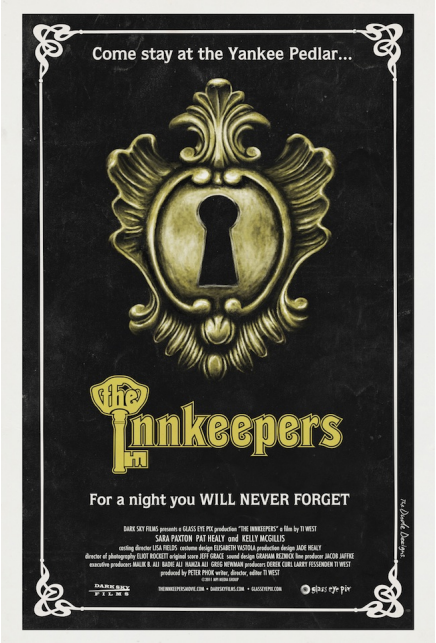
"After over one hundred years of service, The Yankee Pedlar Inn is shutting its doors for good. The last remaining employees-Claire (Sara Paxton) and Luke (Pat Healy)-are determined to uncover proof of what many believe to be one of New England's most haunted hotels. As the Inn's final days draw near, odd guests check in as the pair of minimum wage 'ghost hunters' begin to experience strange and alarming events that may ultimately cause them to be mere footnotes in the hotel's long unexplained history."

Magnet releases THE INNKEEPERS to VOD December 30, and to theaters February 3. The film is really damn good, and if you're in the New York City area this weekend, you should absolutely be heading to Lincoln Center's Scary Movies 5, where THE INNKEEPERS plays tomorrow, October 28 at 9 p.m (get tickets here !).

For more on the film, check out Fango's review from SXSW, our first look from the set and like it on Facebook .

Entertainment
EW.com
The Innkeepers
Some guests never check out.

A GHOST STORY FOR THE MINIMUM WAGE
The Innkeepers



Come stay at the Yankee Pedlar...
The Innkeepers
For a night you WILL NEVER FORGET