FANGORIA

FANGORIA #313 doesn't hit the shelves or arrive in your mailbox till next month, but we've got the first peek at the covers and the full contents to share with you now! Yes, another pair of covers, both spotlighting Tim Burton's eagerly awaited interpretation of the classic Gothic soap DARK SHADOWS, with Johnny Depp as Barnabas Collins on the front and artist Mark Crow's interpretation of Helena Bonham Carter's Dr. Julia Hoffman on the back.

The issue features interviews with Burton, Carter and producer Richard D. Zanuck on their SHADOWS update, plus actress Marie Wallace on the original series. We also celebrate another Gothic pioneer, Edgar Allan Poe, interviewing actor John Cusack on THE RAVEN and the creators of the indie anthology TALES OF POE; continue our look back at Ken Russell's GOTHIC by talking with actor Julian Sands; visit the set of the much-awaited MOTHER'S DAY remake; chat with Robin Hardy about THE WICKER TREE; sit down with actress Jenny Agutter to get her AMERICAN WEREWOLF IN LONDON memories; find out how THE THEATRE BIZARRE has terrorized the world from director/producer David Gregory; and much more. Head down past the covers for the full details!

[redacted]