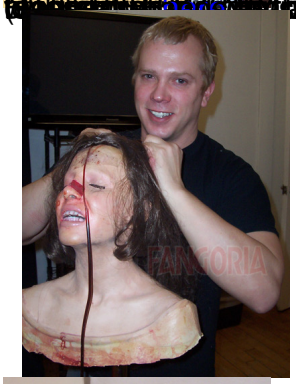
Currently making the festival rounds, the short horror film HIERARCHY has a couple of big names from cult genre circles in its cast. Read on for exclusive pics and comments on this grisly revenge story.

“I wanted to make THE HIERARCHY like a feature film with all the boring parts cut out!” writer/director Jorge Godinez tells Fango. “I’m from Mexico, but really love American teen movies and pop culture, and I wanted to combine those elements and make something hip, funny and bloody. If I had to describe what I was going for, I would say THE HIERARCHY is like CARRIE meets HEATHERS.”



Facebook page