Indie filmmaker Glen Baisley (pictured with Sean Patrick) returns to the scene of his previous cinematic slayings with FAIRVIEW FALLS, which he describes as “THE BREAKFAST CLUB with a horror twist.” He gave Fango the first news on two upcoming DVD versions, along with the cover art.

Set in the titular town haunted by the Black Rose Killer from Baisley’s previous FEAR OF THE DARK, THE TENEMENT and SINS OF THE FATHER, FAIRVIEW FALLS focuses on a group of high-school students working through assorted personal dramas, who become the victims of a mysterious murderer. The cast is headed by Joseph Policastro, Kerri Taylor, Joe Lauria, Mike Lane, Brett Fallon, Morgan LaRocca, Brittney Evans, Gene Mazza, KNOCK KNOCK’s Sal Sirchia and Michael A. Valenzano, with special appearances by Debbie Rochon and (full disclosure) this writer. A standard edition of the DVD will be available through Amazon.com in late October or mid-November, including deleted/extended scenes, while a special limited Insanity Edition will be sold exclusively at the official website of Baisley’s Light & Dark Productions, for release October 30. This one will be jam-packed with over 80 minutes of extras, including:
