

Two great new posters for Argentina's "COLD SWEAT"

Written by Samuel Zimmerman
Tuesday, 01 March 2011 14:01

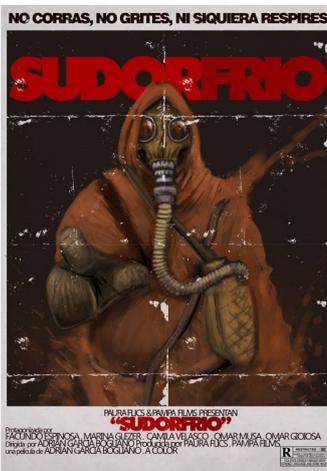

---

The more we're privy to Argentina's COLD SWEAT (SUDOR FRIO), the more exciting it looks. Having its international premiere in Austin this month as part of SXSW's SXFantastic section, the film has two great new posters to show-off...

From director Adrian Garcia Bogliano (ROOMS FOR TOURISTS), COLD SWEAT sees "A young man searching for his missing girlfriend. A loyal friend willing to do anything to uncover the truth. An investigation that culminates in an old house. Inside two brutal murderers expect them, armed with 25 boxes of explosives stolen from the last military dictatorship in Argentina."

For stills from the film and its first trailer, you can head right here . Look for more coverage of COLD SWEAT and all the genre goodness SXSW has to offer in the coming weeks.

Two great new posters for Argentina's "COLD SWEAT"

Written by Samuel Zimmerman

Tuesday, 01 March 2011 14:01

---

{comments on}