Filmmaker, author and former Fangorian Axelle Carolyn has got a ghost story lined up.

Variety reports that Carolyn will direct SOULMATE, a haunted tale of a woman secluding herself in a country cottage after attempted suicide. Said cottage is, naturally, occupied by its deceased former resident; something she finds comforting. Anna Walton, best known as Princes Nuala in HELLBOY II is starring, while THE DESCENT director Neil Marshall will produce.

You can see Carolyn's short film, THE LAST POST—an elegant ghost story which displays a similar sympathetic kinship with the supernatural—below.
